

Making it in the North West

Saturday 5 June 2004

The North West of England has always depended for its prosperity on manufacturing – making things!

Whether it is engineering, aerospace, car making or any one of a thousand other jobs – manufacturing is crucial for the North West.

Other types of work are important but without Government support for manufacturing our future – and our children's future – is threatened.

Support manufacturing!

Come to the march and rally
